[inurl:frischkopp -site:twitter.com]

Problems & weak spots: time filter

- Using the time filter you will lose more than 60 percent of all results, probably more.
- Google will now only display results from websites where it finds a date in the right format
- Even professional news websites cannot (always) have the right date and produce false negatives and positives
- As an extra search it is nice. A typical question is: What did the internet know about a person, place or event before it made it to the headlines?

Problems & weak spots: image search

Another solution (from Paul Myers):

- If you disable Google Lens in chrome (chrome://flags/ - search for Lens) you can get the old reverse image search results when you rightclick a picture)

Problems & weak spots: number of results

Manfred Redelfs of Greenpeace remarked that I should have commented on the number of results. So here are my remarks:

- The number is NEVER correct, you never should use it in publications.
- The number will decrease dramatically if you start clicking through the SERs (search engine resultpage)
- The number can vary within different machines in the same room.
- The number might go up when you narrow your research and decrease when you widen it.

Problems & weak spots: market leader
